

HKHS Communication Chain of Command

To best meet your needs when you have a question or concern about your child’s classes or academic/behavioral performance, it is suggested that you contact the person at school who is in the best position to provide you with timely and accurate information. In most cases, that would be the classroom teacher. To assist you in having your concerns addressed, it is advised that you follow the high school chain of command.

